Gravity and Line

Gravity and Line — Paintings

Six paintings shaped by weight, movement and the irreversibility of a final line. This private selection follows Alex Rowan's recent work across bright grounds, open passages and darker intervals.

Saffron Weather

OIL ON CANVAS

64 × 48 IN, 2026

Saffron, cadmium and deep green fall through a warm linen ground while white and black lines cross the surface with the urgency of handwritten thought.

The Distance Between

OIL ON CANVAS

42 × 85 IN, 2026

Small gatherings of red, ochre and sage move across a broad cream field, connected by lines that nearly meet and then continue on their separate ways.

A Letter Left Open

OIL ON CANVAS

60 × 55 IN, 2026

Sage and coral settle into a worn, paper-like ground where looping lines and fragments of script hover between private notation and fading memory.

August, Still Burning

OIL ON CANVAS

52 × 52 IN, 2026

Yellow and orange bloom across a softened mineral ground, carried downward in luminous drips and crossed by quick white lines that keep the heat in motion.

The Long Way Home

OIL ON CANVAS

44 × 85 IN, 2026

Across a wide turquoise ground, yellow, orange and dark verticals rise and fall while sweeping white lines turn the painting into a map of return.
